ATTRIBUTES & ADVANTAGES

Air filters in the panel and round styles by RIDEX remove miniscule grains and specks that would otherwise harm various parts of the engine. As such, RIDEX filters fit the specs of the parts they're intended to protect to a tee. They resist being shaken loose and the impact of heat and attach to the relevant parts with seals molded to fit perfectly. To increase the interval before they need to be replaced, air filters by RIDEX use resin impregnated media and an appropriate pleat count.

PANEL AIR FILTER STYLE

One-dimensional airflow shields the motor from harmful air impurities.

Urethane seal, easy installation.

Bonded folds keep particles away from the engine.

ROUND AIR FILTER STYLE

Metal clips help the filter contain particles.

Combustion chamber protected by plastisol seals.

Media protected from damage by backfires with an inner screen.

Resin impregnated media can hold a larger amount of impurities before needing replacement.
